

Spotted salamander - Ambystoma maculatum

First discovered in Minnesota in 2001, spotted salamanders spend most of their time underground in forests. In early spring, they can be found in woodland ponds, bogs, and wetlands.

